About this document

This document describes our compliance with the Uniform Rapid Suspension system.

Purpose

The purpose of this document is to provide a public statement by us regarding our intention to comply with our obligations under the Uniform Rapid Suspension system.

What is the Uniform Rapid Suspension system?

The Uniform Rapid Suspension system (often referred to as 'URS') is a dispute resolution mechanism adopted by ICANN; designed to provide rapid relief to trademark holders for the most clear-cut cases of trademark infringement, offering cheaper and faster responses than the Uniform Dispute Resolution Policy (UDRP).

ICANN requires that both we (in our management of the TLD) and Registrars comply with the Uniform Rapid Suspension system.

In order to operate the TLD we have entered into an agreement with ICANN, which (amongst other things) describes the requirements that we must comply with in relation to the Uniform Rapid Suspension system.

Details about the Uniform Rapid Suspension system can be found on the ICANN website at the following link <http://newgtlds.icann.org/en/applicants/urs>.

In accordance with our agreement with ICANN, we will comply with any instruction received from a Uniform Rapid Suspension system provider (issued in accordance with the Uniform Rapid Suspension system) to take action with regard to a domain name.

Our role in the Uniform Rapid Suspension system procedure

Our role in the Uniform Rapid Suspension system is to act on instruction from a Uniform Rapid Suspension system provider. We do not make any determinations about a domain name or its use in relation to the Uniform Rapid Suspension system.

We will act in accordance with the URS Technical Requirements document which includes, but is not limited to, the activation of URS Lock, URS Suspension or Non-URS State (URS Rollback) as they are described in that document.

URS Lock

Following receipt of official notification from a Uniform Rapid Suspension system provider, we will:

- Within the specified timeframe of receipt of such notification, take action to restrict all changes to the domain name, including transfer and deletion of the domain name, but allow the domain name to continue to resolve in the DNS ('lock' the domain name).
- Upon locking of the domain name, promptly notify the Uniform Rapid Suspension system provider.

URS Suspension

Following receipt of official notification from a Uniform Rapid Suspension system provider, we will:

- Within the specified timeframe of receipt of such notification, cause the domain name to be delegated to name servers operated by the Uniform Rapid Suspension system provider who will redirect it to a webpage that mentions that the domain name has been suspended because of a Uniform Rapid Suspension complaint;
- Cause the WHOIS results for the domain name to reflect that the domain name cannot be transferred, deleted or modified—and such will subsist for the term of the registration of the domain name; and
- Upon URS Suspension of the domain name, promptly notify the Uniform Rapid Suspension system provider.

During the term in which a domain name is subject to URS Suspension, we will allow the domain name registration period to be extended in accordance with the URS Technical Requirements Document. In such cases, it is the responsibility of the Registrar to accept and process payments for the renewal of the domain name.

Non-URS State (URS Rollback)

Where we are instructed by the Uniform Rapid Suspension system provider to restore the original information of the domain name, we will within the specified timeframe:

- Un-lock the domain name;
- Reverse any delegation of the domain name to the Uniform Rapid Suspension system provider;
- Return full control of the domain name registration to the Registrant; and
- Upon restoring the original information of the domain name, promptly notify the Uniform Rapid Suspension system provider
